

Judging and Refereeing Courses

Boxing ACT conducts regular training courses to accredit judges and referees. Course dates can be found on the Calendar page of the website.

Judging courses - open to any member of Boxing ACT

Judging courses equip adults with the basic knowledge and skills to judge the outcome of amateur boxing competition bouts. Previous experience in boxing is not essential, but candidates must be (or become) financial members of Boxing ACT ($15 annual fee) to enrol. Courses are one full day in length.

Candidates who complete the theory course and examination undertake supervised practice judging at tournaments; upon reaching a satisfactory standard, they may then be issued with an ACT Judge badge and commence judging at tournaments in Canberra and regional New South Wales.

One or two courses are scheduled early each year. Progression to national and international qualifications is available. If you are interested in judge training, please email or phone us to discuss.

Refereeing courses - open to registered ACT Judges

Currently registered ACT judges may proceed to undertake a refereeing course, which assists them to acquire the knowledge and skill to be a referee at amateur boxing competitions. Courses are two days in length.

Candidates who complete the theory course and examination undertake supervised practice refereeing of sparring sessions at affiliated gyms, and referee exhibition bouts at tournaments. Upon reaching a satisfactory standard, they may then be issued with an ACT Referee badge and commence referee duties at tournaments in Canberra and regional New South Wales.

One or two courses are scheduled early each year. Progression to national and international qualifications is available. ACT judges interested in undertaking referee training should contact their Referee/Judge Coordinator.
